

EVIDENCE IS ALL IN.TESTIMONY IN THE SYCLE CASE CONCLUDED YESTERDAY.*TO BE ARGUED THIS MORNING.*MANY MORE WITNESSES ARE EXAMINED FOR THE PROSECUTION, BUT ONLY ONE FOR THE DEFENCE—THE QUESTION OF DELAY DISCUSSED.

The evidence for both sides is now all in in the Sytle case, and this morning at 10 o'clock the argument will begin. It is expected that Mr. Sytle will be acquitted of the charge of rejecting Moss Jennings, a negro, who applied to him for registration, as there has been no evidence introduced to substantiate this charge.

Yesterday's proceedings were rather tame. The case was resumed at 12 o'clock in Clerk Waddill's private office, and Mr. Randolph Williams, who was on the stand when the court adjourned Thursday, was recalled, and subjected to a rigid cross examination, though no new facts were elicited from him. He and Messrs. Montague and Justis had several tilts, but the witness held his own throughout.

Mr. Hugh Antrim testified that Mr. Sytle had apparently delayed in every way possible the registration of voters on the 24th of October. It transpired in the examination that witness was at Smith's Precinct only a portion of the day, and during his stay there Moss Jennings, the complainant in the case, was at the polls not more than twenty minutes. Witness testified that the registrar did not delay the proceedings more than other gentlemen in the precinct did. He knew nothing to show that the allegations in the warrant setting forth that Moss Jennings was rejected by the registrar were true.

MR. SYCLE NOT AT FAULT.
Mr. Walter Duggins was at Smith's Precinct on the 24th of October, and said the registration was very slow, due almost exclusively to the fact that four gentlemen from the city interfered with Mr. Sytle, and questioned almost every applicant for registration. During the examination of Mr. Duggins an issue as to their impressions arose between Messrs. Guigou and Montague, and both gentlemen became rather excited. Mutual explanations were exchanged, and matters quieted down. Mr. Duggins being further questioned by Mr. Montague, said he knew nothing about the case of Moss Jennings or of his rejection.

J. R. Pollard, a negro, who is hardly old enough himself to vote, said he saw Moss Jennings at Smith's Precinct, and though Jennings remained in line some time, he was not able to get to the window. This was due, he said, to the dilatory tactics practiced on the inside of the booth, though Mr. Sytle was not, according to his idea, alone at fault.

EVIDENCE FOR THE DEFENCE.
Upon the conclusion of Pollard's testimony the prosecution rested its case. The question of delay was discussed, and it was decided to go on for awhile longer, and Mr. Montague took the stand for the defense. He told of his having visited Smith's Precinct on October the 24th in order to give his construction of the law, if it should be required. He remained there continuously from 9 A. M. until the poll closed. He could not say that any one purposefully delayed the registration, and thought that Mr. Sytle wrote slowly naturally, and therefore, was not responsible for the same. In regard to the appeal of Ross Daniel, Mr. Montague said he thought that Mr. Sytle had consumed more time than he ought to have done in registering applicants.

Mr. Montague, after dinner recess, reiterated what he had said before dinner, and being cross-examined by Mr. Guigou, was asked to testify as to many points of law. Mr. Justis objected to this line of questioning, and both he and Mr. Guigou argued the point at considerable length. The court then permitted Mr. Guigou to continue. Witness said that there were a great many questions asked applicants for registration, but that these questions were alike propounded by the challengers for the three parties. Mr. Montague expressed the opinion that nine out of ten of the negroes who applied for registration should have been challenged. This was objected to by Mr. Justis and the others, and Mr. Guigou asked if it was not a fact that practically all the negro applicants were challenged. This was objected to by Mr. Justis and ruled out, and Mr. Guigou supplemented it with the question if it was not a fact that the challenging extended to every voter. Mr. Montague thought not, and said that he didn't think much time was consumed in registering at Smith's. Being asked if the registration was conducted as decorously and competently as possible, Mr. Montague said he thought not, but that Mr. Sytle was not at fault, as the crowd which thronged around the poll very greatly interfered with him.

NOT AN EXPERIENCED MAN.
Mr. Guigou pressed the witness for his opinion as to the time that should be occupied in registering a negro. Mr. Justis objected, and said that Mr. Montague hadn't had the advantage of many years education as a challenger in Jackson Ward, and was, therefore, not competent to answer Mr. Guigou's question. Mr. Guigou then withdrew his question, and Mr. Wise took the witness in hand. He asked him but few questions, and, concluding, the defense rested their case.

The court adjourned over until this morning at 10 o'clock, when the argument will be begun.

AN IMPORTANT GATHERING.Annual Meeting of the Southern Associated Press Next Week.

On Wednesday next, the 18th instant, the annual meeting of the Southern Associated Press will be held in Richmond. This gathering is one of great importance, and is not a mere social or social one. The Southern Associated Press furnishes the news to the world from Washington to New Orleans, and from the Atlantic as far west as Chattanooga, and its members are the principal papers in the territory. Mr. Howell, of the Atlanta Constitution, is president.

The Dispatch and Times are the Richmond members of the association, and they have performed a remarkable service for the propagation and development of the association while here. The members will stop at the Jefferson, and the meeting will be held in the assembly room of that hotel.

Both the Tribune and Richmond Daily and Evening News have extended invitations to the members for a ride over their respective lines. The Chesapeake and Ohio have generously invited them to take an excursion to New Orleans where the members of the Press can see the great dry-dock and ship-building yards; thence to Old Point and return. If the time can be spared from business, the trip will be well worth the trouble.

The citizens generally will welcome this distinguished body of men, who have so much to do with the upbuilding of the South.

Its New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as rector of that church. The vested choir, which is composed of twenty voices, will render some beautiful selections at both services. The organ music will be effected by a quartette selection from Millard's solo and chorus at the evening service. The choir has recently been reinforced by the addition of several excellent voices, and is doing very good work.

It's New Rector to Preach.

There will doubtless be large congregations at St. Mark's church to-morrow morning, and evening, to hear the new Rector preach his first sermon as re